

Have you
completed
a business
income
worksheet?

Completing a business income worksheet is an important part of any strategic risk management plan. Sadly, the overwhelming majority of middle market companies haven't seen one, let alone completed one. Believe us when we tell you, this process is nowhere near as bad as oral surgery. If done correctly, it is quick and painless. As with most components of your risk management program, it is also extremely handy to have on hand in the event you would ever have a loss that interrupts your operations.

Smith Davis Insurance's Risk Managers have made this process painless through the use of a customizable business income worksheet that we use with all of our clients. If you have never seen a business income worksheet, contact your Risk Manager at Smith Davis Insurance today to obtain your complimentary customized worksheet.
